In 2018, the homeless families Nicholas House serves made major strides in reaching for a new and better future. Meanwhile, Nicholas House expanded its reach with new relationships, more services and greater funding to help more homeless families achieve self-sufficiency.

Last year, Nicholas House assisted 568 homeless children and parents from 157 families with housing, case management, youth services, adult education and more while keeping the families intact regardless of composition.

We began a Corporate Leadership Council that has galvanized new partners from the business community to join our efforts toward making family homelessness rare, brief and nonrecurring. We’ve reached out to form new collaboratives with other agencies for a collective impact on economic empowerment for families. We’ve reached new insight as we brought greater analytical insight and diligence to program and fundraising impact. At Nicholas House, we look at every challenge that families face as an opportunity to help improve their lives, inspire independence and foster their self-sufficiency.

Going forward, our goal is straightforward: to move more families from homelessness and financial anxiety to confidence and independence as they plan and strive for their future and arrive there with control over their choices.

We hope that you enjoy this 2018 Annual Report. You’ll meet a family that we’ve served, learn about the challenges they faced and discover how with assistance from Nicholas House, they are living the life they envisioned. You’ll also discover the values that drive our success, the facts behind our programmatic and financial strength, and learn how you can have greater impact through your partnership with Nicholas House.

Thank you for helping to change lives and make our work possible. We look forward to an even more impactful future!

They are so funny, interesting, and teach me about play, creativity, and spontaneity — these lessons add value to my life outside of the hours I volunteer at Nicholas House. Many hardworking families live paycheck-to-paycheck—families like Carla’s, who found themselves facing eviction after roommates didn’t pay the light bill.

Paying off their roommates’ overdue light bill taxed her family’s financial resources, leading to them falling behind on rent and other bills. As late fees piled up, Carla took the initiative to look for help—and found Nicholas House. “It was hard to admit that I needed help for my family. I was scared, I didn’t know if anyone could help me.”

Carla attended a Nicholas House workshop to map out a plan for her family to move forward and become self-sufficient, with a focus on completing her education and budgeting to better manage her money. With the support of her case manager, Carla re-enrolled in school to complete her Associate’s Degree in Applied Science to earn a Phlebotomy Certification and equip her for a higher-paying job in the medical field.

Carla and her son’s father worked hard to put their plan into action and regained control of their finances. Once they demonstrated that they would be able to pay their current and future rent, Nicholas House’s Home Again homelessness prevention program paid off two months of owed back rent, preventing eviction and helping the family to get back on their feet. With focused effort, Carla and her boyfriend have stabilized their family, paid off their outstanding bills and started to build savings so that their children can have the best life possible.

Today, Carla is only weeks away from graduating with her Associate’s Degree and starting an exciting new chapter in her life. She is building a lasting foundation for her family and equipping her children with the tools they need to become independent and self-sufficient adults.

“My family came dangerously close to losing everything we’d worked so hard to achieve. Without the help and support of Nicholas House, our lives would be so different. I’m so grateful that they were able to help us.”
— CARLA, Nicholas House Program Participant

“Thank you, for giving me back my peace of mind and a path for a better future for my family.”
— CARLA
